

BLEACHING RED NOSES.
A Process by Which Fery-Looking Nasal Organs are Improved.

From the Philadelphia Press.
On Burdette street, below Washington, there is a small, dingy store, the window of which is filled with an incongruous collection of trusses, bottled monstrosities, hair oil, botanical specimens and colored engravings of misrepresentations of the human frame. Over the window is the proprietor's name, James Tweed. Prominently placed in the window is a dirty placard, saying:

Red Noses Bleached.
No pay for failures.
Failure impossible.
"How do you bleach a nose?" asked a news-gatherer of the manipulator of rubricated proboscises.

"That is my art, sir," he replied, with a majestic sweep of the hand. "However, I will give you some insight into my method of procedure. You are perhaps not aware that the rosinness of the nasal organ generally produced by the extraordinary and long continued inhalation of fiery alcoholic stimulants is due not to the action of the stomach and liver, as has been sometimes stated, but to the direct action of the heart."
"Um, hum."

"Well, sir," continued the man of noses, with a gratified air, "liquor stimulates the heart's action and drives the blood direct to the head. That organ, being bony, cannot expand with the superfluous of sanguinous fluid injected into it and the blood has to find an exit. The nose is the easiest and most elastic portion of the head, so the blood flies there. By the continued stress, so to speak, brought to bear upon the small vessels in the nose, they become permanently stretched and lose their normal elastic condition. The blood is not pressed out of them, but remains and becomes congealed. Do you comprehend?"

"Um, hum."
"To me, sir," said the doctor, "belongs the credit of having discovered all this. And having discovered the cause I set to work and soon found out the remedy."

"And that is?"
"It takes several days, but failure is impossible. This is the operation: I take my patient into this back room, which I always keep dark. To his swelled member I apply from four to six leeches, while at the same time I galvanize his nose by means of a sponge. The effect of the galvanism is to restore the normal elasticity of the arterial and venous fibres, while at the same time the congealed blood becomes once more fluidified by the fresh blood drawn through it by the sucking leeches. You follow me?"

"Um, hum."
"At the end of fifteen minutes I remove the leeches and sponges and apply instantaneously a mould of plaster of paris to the now tender member. In less than a week, by daily treatment, the nose regains its original shape, the abnormal bloom has disappeared and my method has received substantial proof of its efficacy."

"Do you have many patients?"
"My book will show you the names of hundreds. My method never fails. Oh, from $5 to $20 a nose. I charge according to the amount of work I do."

The Acre of Impudence.

Jay Gould, who had exhausted all his resources of bribery and corruption, and as the head of the Western Union Telegraph Company, had used the wires of that monopoly to disseminate false election results in the interest of Blaine, became alarmed at the indignation of the people in New York on Thursday and sent Grover Cleveland a telegram congratulating him upon his election. The following letter from that other great stock jobber and millionaire explains itself:

To Hon. Grover Cleveland:
My DEAR SIR—I congratulate you and the people of the whole country upon your election to the Presidency of the United States. You owe your election, in my opinion, to the fact that the people believed you to be an honest man, and not to any particular efforts made by any faction of either the Democratic or Republican parties. Independent men, who care more for good government than for parties or individuals have made your choice because they were convinced that your administration would not be for the benefit of any political organization or favored persons, but for the interest of the whole people. This is just the result which is most desired. We have reached a time when party animosity is little. The country is above all, and wants an honest government by honest men. The belief that we will find it in you has led to your election. Yours very truly,
W. H. VANDERBILT.

A DREADEFUL PROPHECY.

How the Moon May Bring the Earth to a Standstill.

The tides are caused mainly by the moon, as it were, catching hold of the water as the earth revolves around on its axis. This must cause friction on the earth as it revolves, and friction, as every body knows, causes loss of power. There is reason to suppose that the action of the tides is slowly but surely lessening the speed of the earth's rotation, and consequently increasing the length of the day, and that this action will continue until the earth revolves on its own axis in the same time that the moon takes to revolve around the earth. Then the day, instead of being twenty-four hours as now, will be about twenty-eight days, and the earth will be exposed to the full blaze of the sun for about fourteen days at a time.

The change this will bring about on the face of the earth can hardly be exaggerated. All life, both animal and vegetable, will be destroyed, all water will be evaporated, the solid rocks will be scorched and cracked, and the whole world reduced to a dreary and barren wilderness. It is supposed by some that the moon has already passed through this, hence its shattered and bare-looking surface. That the earth, being so much larger, has more quickly acted upon the oceans which once were upon the moon's surface and stopped almost entirely its revolution round its own axis thus causing it to have a day equal to twenty-eight of our days, and the heat of the sun has already done to it what in future ages it will do to the earth.—Harper's Weekly.

Historic Close Votes.

As early as 1824, in the contest between Adams and Jackson, there was a difference of only 100 in Maryland's vote on those two candidates in favor of Adams. Four years later that State voted on those same candidates, and though there were nearly 25,000 additional votes divided between them, Adams still led by 1,181. In 1832, when Clay and Jackson were the rival candidates, Delaware gave Clay but 166 more votes than Jackson got, and in Maryland there was an actual difference of only four votes, Clay getting 19,160 and Jackson 19,156. The vote in New Jersey that year stood: Clay 23,392, Jackson 23,836, a trifling, yet all important difference of 444 votes. In 1836, when Harrison and Van Buren were the contenders for suffrage, there was a difference in Connecticut of only 768 votes, in Louisiana of 270, in Mississippi of 201, and in New Jersey of 545. In 1840, when Harrison ran against Van Buren, there was a difference in the vote in Maine of only 411, in Michigan of 1,035, in Pennsylvania of 1,345, in a total vote of 287,097, and in Virginia of 1,392. Between Clay and Polk in 1844, there was a difference in Louisiana of 701 votes, in New Jersey 823, and in Tennessee, Polk's home, Clay led him by just 113 votes. In 1848, between Taylor and Cass, the difference between votes for the two was: In Alabama 981, in Delaware 523, in Iowa 1,043, in Mississippi 615, and in Virginia, 1,462.

The race of Pierce against Scott in 1852 was correspondingly close in some States, the advantage being in Delaware only 25 votes, in Louisiana 1,392, in North Carolina 685 and in Tennessee 1,860. In the memorable and remarkable contest of 1860 Lincoln only had 556 votes the better of Douglas in California. In 1864 McClellan got only 612 more votes than Lincoln in Delaware. In California in 1868 Grant received but 506 more votes than Seymour, and in Oregon but 164 majority. In 1872 again, between Greeley and Grant, Delaware held her party votes within 909 of each other. In 1872 Hon. Thomas A. Hendricks was elected Governor of Indiana by 1,148 majority.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Remarkable Killing.

One of the most remarkable accidental deaths which has perhaps ever occurred, took place in this district Saturday last. It happened in this way, two brothers Charlie and Yancy Floyd went out hunting, and while in a cane brake, Mr. Yancy Floyd fired at a bird, and one of the shot a number seven bird shot, penetrated the eye of his brother Charlie, causing death in a short time. Not in our knowledge has a death of so mournful, so singular a character ever before occurred. The brother who thus unfortunately deprived the other of life has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community.—Newberry Herald.

The only vote probably cast for Mrs. Belva Lockwood in Indiana was cast at the sixth ward polls in Vincennes Tuesday by Mrs. Dr. Mason. Mrs. Mason is an old and respected citizen of Vincennes, and, determined to vote for Mrs. Lockwood, she waded up to the sixth ward polls Tuesday. The crowd standing around made way for her. When one of the challengers asked what she wanted, she replied: "I want to vote." Republicans and Democrats smiled knowingly. The Inspector looked inquisitive, and Mrs. Mason politely handed him her ballot, on which was written, "For President, Mrs. Belva Lockwood." The Inspector courteously took the ballot and Mrs. Mason withdrew much gratified. The vote was counted.

Kicking His Candidate.

FOR PRESIDENT, 1888.
For President in 1888—Some Man Who Hasn't Written Any Letters. — SHOULD HAVE BURNED THEM HIMSELF.
Mr. Blaine should have burned those letters himself, instead of asking another fellow to do it.

CONKING NOT A GOBLER.

The trouble began by Blaine's designation of Conkling as a turkey gobbler twenty years ago. We presume the returns mean that Conkling is not a turkey gobbler.

SHOULD HAVE TAKEN A WALK.

We believe it was Martin Van Buren who said he would rather walk twenty miles than write a letter. If Mr. Blaine had taken more walks and written fewer letters he might have been elected.

Evolution in Mississippi.

In the Mississippi Synod, held last week in Crystal Spring, the question of Evolution coming up, the Rev. J. D. West spoke for an hour in favor of Dr. Woodrow and his theory as to the origin of man. But little was said on the other side, members having made up their minds that such discussions do no good.

After Mr. West had spoken, Dr. B. M. Palmer, of New Orleans, stated that he had no desire to prevent any one from studying and favoring Evolution, but objected to having it taught in the theological seminaries and in churches. As for the manner in which Adam was created, Dr. Palmer said: Man knows nothing about God's creative power beyond what the Bible furnishes us, and never can know such things. It is beyond the reach of men of science.

The final vote on the resolution offered in the morning by Dr. Palmer relative to evolution and condemning the teaching of it in seminaries stood 42 ayes to 8 noes.

Thanksgiving Proclamation.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—By the President of the United States of America: A proclamation: The season is nigh when it is yearly the wont of this people to observe a day appointed for that purpose by the President as an especial occasion for thanksgiving unto God. Now therefore, in recognition of this hallowed custom, I, Chester A. Arthur, President of the United States, do hereby designate as such day of general thanksgiving, Thursday, the 27th day of this present November; and I do recommend that throughout the land the people, ceasing from their accustomed occupations, do then keep holiday at their several homes and their several places of worship, and, with heart and voice, pay reverent acknowledgments to the Giver of all Good for the countless blessings wherewith He hath visited this nation.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington this seventh day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighty-four, and the independence of the United States the one hundred and ninth.

(Signed) CHESTER A. ARTHUR.

A MARVELOUS STORY

TOLD IN TWO LETTERS.
FROM THE SON: "28 Cedar St., New York, Oct. 25, 1882."
"Gentlemen: My father resides at Glover, Vt. He has been a great sufferer from Scrofula, and the enclosed letter will tell you what a marvelous effect has had in his case. I think his blood must have contained the humor for at least ten years; but it did not show, except in the form of a scrofulous sore on the wrist, until about five years ago. From a few spots which appeared at that time, it gradually spread so to cover his entire body. I assure you he was terribly afflicted, and an object of pity, when he began using your medicine. Now, there are for men of his age who enjoy good health as he has. I could easily name fifty persons who would testify to the facts in his case.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

Yours truly, W. M. PHILLIPS."

FROM THE FATHER:

"It is both a pleasure and a duty for me to state to you the benefit I have derived from the use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Six months ago I was completely covered with a terrible humor and scrofulous sores. The humor caused an incessant and intolerable itching, and the skin cracked so as to cause the blood to flow in many places whenever I moved. My sufferings were great, and my life a burden. I commenced the use of the Sarsaparilla in April last, and have used it regularly since that time. My condition began to improve at once. The sores have all healed, and I feel perfectly well in every respect—being now able to do a good day's work, although 73 years of age. Many inquire what has wrought such a cure in my case, and I tell them, as I have here tried to tell you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. Glover, Vt., Oct. 21, 1882.
Yours gratefully,
HIRAM PHILLIPS."

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA cures Scrofula and all Scrofulous Complaints, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Itchiness, Sores, Boils, Furuncles, and Eruptions of the Skin. It clears the blood of all impurities, aids digestion, stimulates the action of the bowels, and thus restores vitality and strength to the whole system.
